The Loft Literary Center Announces 2023–2024 Mentor Series Fellows

Twelve Minnesota Early Career Writers Selected for the Year-long Fellowship Program

The Loft Literary Center is pleased to announce the recipients of the Loft Mentor Series Fellowship. The Mentor Series Fellowship offers 12 early career Minnesota writers the opportunity to work intensively with six nationally acclaimed writers of prose and poetry.

Selected participants work throughout the fellowship with the six mentors, and all participants and mentors give public readings at the Loft. Dates for those readings will be announced in December. Learn more about the program here.

This program is funded by the Jerome Foundation, the National Endowment for the Arts, and the generous support of Loft members.

2023–2024 ENTRIES AND SELECTIONS

The Loft Literary Center received 69 entries to the 2022–2023 Loft Mentor Series Fellowship in Poetry and Creative Prose, from which the current program mentors had the difficult task of choosing the four fellows and two honorable mentions each in the genres of poetry, fiction, and nonfiction. The fellows are listed below.

Nonfiction Selections
Tommy Frank, Tim Knight, Paul Lai, and Hana Worku have been selected for the fellowship program in creative nonfiction.

Honorable mentions are Isa Condo-Olvera and Jamie Valentino.

Poetry Selections
Sara Dovre Wudali, José Felipe Ozuna, jd hegarty, and Aurora Masum-Javed have been selected for the fellowship program in poetry.

Honorable mentions are 翁淑君 Sook Jin Ong and Sam Stokley.

Fiction Selections
LaTreena Felegy, Dorcy Jaffray, Cindy Jiban, and Rebecca Nichloson have been selected for the fellowship program in fiction.

BIOS FOR THE 2023–2024 LOFT MENTOR SERIES FELLOWS

Sara Dovre Wudali’s poetry and essays have appeared or are forthcoming in literary journals and anthologies such as under the gum tree, Barrelhouse, North Dakota Quarterly, and the Saint Paul Almanac. She co-edited the hybrid chapbook anthology, All You Need Is One Avocado, 2022. Her poems have been exhibited in public art projects in Mankato, Red Wing, and Minneapolis. She spent almost two decades of her life on a farm in southwest Minnesota, an experience which finds its way into all her poetry. Dovre Wudali is owner and director of Buuji, a small content production house in St. Paul where she lives with her family.

LaTreena Felegy is a Black, Midwest-born book lover and aspiring writer. Many of her favorite stories involve “troubled” female characters, and her own writing often explores the darker impulses of adolescence and womanhood. She holds a BA in English Literature from Metropolitan State University and an MA in Education from Augsburg University. The Loft Mentor Series Fellowship is an exciting step toward her future as a writer.

José Felipe Ozuna was born in Guerrero, Mexico and currently lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota. He graduated with a BS in sociology from Minnesota State University, Mankato. He is a 2022 Undocupoets Fellow. His poems are published or forthcoming in Poetry Online, HAD, River Mouth Review, and elsewhere.

Tommy Frank is a neuroqueer essayist. They received their MFA from Hamline University and their MALS in Film Studies from the University of Minnesota. Tommy was attacked by a pelican in Panama in 2005; they've been dive bombed by swallows in their backyard, swarmed by hornets on cloudy days, and bit by a bat in their own apartment. You can find their work in The Under Review.

jd hegarty (they/she/FAE) is a poet, a former lawyer, and a sunflower living in Minneapolis, Minnesota with two amazing cats. jd's work can be found in Name & None, 45th Parallel, Inscape, Ghost City Press, Miniskirt Magazine and elsewhere. She is a graduate of the Hamline University MFA. Their self-published chapbook of sad gay love poems, the clearest blue, is available for free at jdhegarty.com. Fae can be found scooping ice cream and dashing doors in Minneapolis and she will be on twitter until it burns down @YourAuntieJD.

Dorcy Jaffray is a writer from Minneapolis. She has an undergraduate degree from Lewis & Clark College in Portland, Oregon, and a master's degree from the University of Stirling in Stirling, Scotland. When not knee-deep in a word document, she can be found at a brewery hanging out with dogs and talking far too much about sailing.

Cindy Jiban holds a Ph.D. in educational psychology, and she has published extensively on effective and equitable teaching practices in literacy and numeracy. Cindy is also an emerging fiction writer. She is currently preparing for the publication and massive overnight success of her first novel for adults.

Tim Knight is a writer of stories. As a Korean Adoptee, his work usually ruminates on identity, the nature of this world and existence. You can find his work in great weather for MEDIA, Funicular Magazine, and others. For inquiries, connect him at TimKnightWriting.org.
Paul Lai is a Taiwanese American writer who lives in Minneapolis with his partner and their two dogs. He is a peripatetic reader and writes creative nonfiction about memory and language as well as doggerel about, well, his dogs.

Aurora Masum-Javed is a poet, educator, and writing coach. A former public school teacher, she holds an MA in Education from George Mason University and an MFA from Cornell University, where she also served as a lecturer. Her work can be found in various journals including Nimrod, Aster(ix), Winter Tangerine, and Frontier. She has received fellowships from places such as MacDowell, Millay Arts, Vermont Studio Center, Kundiman, and Callaloo. A recent Philip Roth Resident and Hub City Writer in Residence, she is currently working on her first collection of poems.

Rebecca Nicholson (She/Her) is a Black, Queer poet, fiction writer, singer/songwriter, playwright and theatre maker. She is the author of numerous creative works, including Submerged (An Opera), Dear America (Libretto & vocals), Mara, Queen of the World (an acapella musical), The Wild, Bold Enlightenment of Velvet the Mistress, Cooking With Keisha (or Anatomy of Pie), and Jill, Jack & the Martian Lady; a play she created for a children’s educational workshop at the Minnesota Opera. Her fiction and performance pieces include Children of the First Hummingbird and Zar-Baby, among others. She holds a Master of Fine Arts in Playwriting from Columbia University, an M.A. in English Literature, and studied publishing at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. She was also the recipient of a Commission from the Cedar Cultural Center for which she created Multicolored Musings: Jewels of Love, Loss, & Triumph (a three-part collection of songs exploring her African and African American heritage and passion for genre eclectic music) and received a 2020 honorable mention from the McKnight Foundation (Spoken Word). In addition, she is the recipient of the Liberace Award, the Howard Stein Fellowship, The Matthew’s Fellowship, an America-in-Play Fellowship and a Many Voices Fellowship from the Minneapolis Playwrights Center (2008-2009). Rebecca’s work has been presented at Pangea World Theatre, Red Eye Theatre, Pillsbury House Theatre and others. She is the founder/artistic director of Cleveland-Harris Theatre Company (a theatre, performance, and public imagination project based in Minneapolis). Learn more at www.RebeccaNicholson.com.

Hana Worku is a writer, software developer, and organizer deeply interested in "process." How are things put together, what are the steps, and how do they come apart? Hana's creative work explores patterns and dissonance in this arena. Her work can be found in Yellow Arrow Journal, Human x Nature Zine, the Artist Grief Deck, and other small publications. She was a participant in the Hurston/Wright Writers Workshop in 2021.

BIOS FOR THE 2023–2024 MENTORS

Fiction

Ernesto Quiñonez is an acclaimed novelist, essayist, screenplay writer, and oral storyteller for the Moth. He is the author of Chango’s Fire and Bodega Dreams. His work received the Barnes & Noble Discover Great New Writers designation, the Borders Bookstore Original New Voice selection, and was declared a “Notable Book of the Year” by The New York Times and the Los Angeles Times. He was raised in Spanish Harlem, New York City, by a communist father from Ecuador and a Jehovah’s Witness mother. He is a product of public education from kindergarten to his Masters at the City College of New York where he studied under Walter Mosley. He is a Sundance Writer’s Lab fellow and last appeared in the “Blackout” episode of PBS American Experience. He is currently an associate professor at Cornell University’s MFA program.

Swati Avasthi’s first novel, Split (Knopf, 2010) received the International Reading Association Award, Cybils Award, received recognition from 15 US state awards committees, and was translated into four languages. Her second, Chasing Shadows received several starred reviews from School Library Journal, Publisher’s Weekly, and was listed as a Best of 2013 by Kirkus, Bank Street College, and YALSA. Swati received her BA from The University of Chicago and an MFA from University of Minnesota. She teaches at Hamline University’s MFA in Writing for Children and Young Adults.
